Flour, Feed, Apples, Pressed Beef
and Hogs for sale. A. F. PLACE, Lansing, Mich.

Two desirable corner lots on Michigan avenue for sale cheap. Inquire of Wm. A. Masters, at the Postoffice.

S. Vaughn, who is lumbering on the North Branch for John E. Potts, of Detroit, has over 5,000,000 feet skidded, and thinks he will be well prepared to take advantage of the first run of sleighing.

—Adelbert Taylor has lately invested in another village lot on Cedar-st., opposite the new Nichols' mansion, which he is having cleared and put in order, expecting to build on it soon.

—An exchange says that a Michigan editor received $100,000 from the administrator of the estate of a dead subscriber, and to celebrate the event caused his office towel to be washed.
How often affluence leads to extravagance.

—The prospect in this vicinity for lumbermen just present is not very flattering, as the open weather continues; but, however, there's time enough yet for a perfect avalanche of the "beautiful," and then all will be sure.

—Mr. James Vick, of Rochester, N.
Y., the king bee of Flora and Seedsmen, has issued his celebrated Flora Guide for 1882, which is before us, and is really a very handsome work of 136 pages, containing nearly 1,000 illustrations, and is a book of great value to all gardeners and farmers—and, although costing, but 10 cents, is handsome enough for a Gift Book, or a place on the parlor table. You may all receive one by inclosing 10 cents to him, and never regret it, as it is worth many times that price.

—In order to further facilitate the loading of lumber cars for shipment, Salling, Hanson & Co. are laying rails from the main track just south of the mill yard north to the tram at the east end of their mill.

—Maitly, Page & Co., of Bay City, will soon commence lumbering operations on the North Branch, and will make Grayling headquarters for their supplies, and will probably have to erect a warehouse for the storage of camp supplies.

—NOTICE.—The undersigned Treasurer of Maple Forest, will be at his residence in said township on Friday of each week, until further notice, for the purpose of receiving Taxes.

—JEREMIAH SHERMAN.

—We understand that Pack, Woods & Co., extensive lumbermen on the North Branch, intend soon erecting a large warehouse in this village, as a base from which to draw their supplies, it being the most central point for that business.

—Supervisor Bell, of Grove, writes us from Ann Arbor that he has had an examination, and that the physicians give hope of a cure without any operation other than external applications, but say that he will be obliged to use glasses, and that his left eye is very bad and cannot be wholly cured.

—A shooting match is talked of to some off in this village the Saturday before Christmas, but just who the parties are at the head of the project we don't know, but, however, we believe it would be kind of nice, and wouldn't mind taking a hand at the trigger ourselves. Set 'em up again, boys!

—It is rumored that a change in the running time of the passenger train will go into effect on the road next week.

—Mr. N. E. Britt returned this week from his trip to Wisconsin, and reports open weather all along the line.

—In order to close out my present stock, I will sell School Books, etc.

N. H. TRAVER, Druggist and Stationer.

—Mr. J. M. Jones and family will move in and occupy their new dwelling house on Michigan avenue, this week.

—David Ward, of Pontiac, was in town this week looking after his lumbering interests in this vicinity.

—A fine assortment of candies, nuts and knick-knacks, just received for the Holiday trade, at Dr. Traver's.

—Miss Ida Watling, of Ypsilanti, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Babbitt, of this village.

—Merchant Finn has secured another assistant in the person of Mr. Chas.
Fay, (no relation to the Elder), of Royal Oak, Oakland county.

—S. Vaughn made some of our village folks happy this week through the arrival of a "valuable package," whose contents were soon transferred to their pockets.

—Mr. N. Shellenbarger and family of Grove, have moved into town and now occupy their premises on the south side of the river.

—Township Treasurer, J. K. Hanson, received the tax roll from Supervisor Babbitt last week, and is now prepared to receive your tax money.

—Susan Alice, daughter of M. O. and Sarah Atwood, of Ball township, aged 12 years, 1 month and 4 days, died of typhoid fever, in the above township, on the 9th inst.

—There is promise of great activity in real estate matters in this vicinity the coming Spring. Buy lots before the great rise, wake up, and then advertise, and if you don't realize, you may blink your eyes, and look surprised.

—There seems to be something with a very bad odor attached to it in Roscommon, which is an abomination and a source of righteous indignation to the more respectable portion of the inhabitants thereof, and which will probably be purged from her midst as it seems to be a consummation devoutly to be wished.

—The new meat market of Sanderson & Conner has been opened to the public, and the meat, sausage and poultry dispensed there is just as good as can be furnished, and is said to be very readily digested by persons working around saw mills, railroads, and general out-door work, as well as by the most delicate of ladies. Just step in and try a roast, and buy a link of sausage.

—The Xmas Tree at the Hall on Christmas Eve, under the auspices of the Masonic Fraternity, promises to be a very grand affair, and will be largely attended from the fact that our village is now become so populous that one tree is not a monopoly, and therefore we feel assured that both trees mentioned this week will be accorded a liberal patronage, and be occasions of much pleasure long to be remembered.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

FOREIGN.

Six hundred peasants of the Duke of Devonshire have decided not to pay rent unless a reduction of 20 per cent. be made.

At Cape Town, South Africa, Mr. Koniotis, Co. controller, rated for $2,000,000.

The Inspector General of the Irish Constabulary has advertised for 1,000 men to act as special protection duty, the men to serve in the constabulary for a limited period in order to relieve the ordinary police force of "special protection" duties. The tenants of the Duke of Leinster have resolved to pay the "no-rent" manifesto.

The fall of a lamp on the stage ignited the Ring Theater, at Vienna, just as it had been filled with spectators. In the confusion which instantly prevailed, the iron curtain supporting the stage from the auditorium was left raised. A small portion of the audience saved themselves by running from third-story windows, and sixty were rescued by means of ladders. No loss of life is reported at 300. Many carriages were consumed in the galleries.

PERSONAL.

President Arthur hastened up his residence at the White House.

John Davis, nephew of Judge Bancroft Davis and son-in-law of ex-Senator Frelinghuysen, has been appointed private secretary to the President.

FINANCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL.

J. L. Berg & Co., wholesale druggists, New York, have failed, owing $200,000.

John S. O'Gorman & Co., wholesale grocers of St. Louis, have suspended payment, with liabilities of $125,000.

Nimmer & Co., contractors and bankers at Miles City, have failed for $150,000.

GENERAL.

Gen. Kiplikar, United States Minister to Chile, died recently at Santiago de Cuba.

The National Cotton-Planter's Association, at its session in Atlanta, Ga., re-elected P. C. Morehead, President; G. M. King, Treasurer; and James N. Ogdon, Secretary.

POLITICAL.

Doorkeeper Browlow, of the House, has appointed Richard W. Austin, of North Carolina, Assistant Doorkeeper; and J. R. Popham, of Virginia, Assistant Doorkeeper in charge of the document room. Col. Popham is a Readjuster. George McNeil, son-in-law of Congressman Barrows, of Michigan, has been appointed Assistant Postmaster of the House.

FIRES AND CASUALTIES.

A special train on the New York and New England road ran into a passenger train, near Thompson, Conn., by which Conductor P. W. Harrington and Engineer Albert Clark were instantly killed and several persons were injured.

A conflagration in the mill district of Minneapolis destroyed property to the value of $416,000, upon which there is insurance aggregating $207,500, besides causing the death of four men and the injury of many others. Four great-hoisting mills and a large cotton mill were devoured by the flames.

The small propeler Jane Miller was recently lost in Georgian bay, and all the passengers and crew, twenty-five in number, found a watery grave.

A fire at Marietta, Ga., destroyed many business houses. The loss is estimated at $70,000.

By a collision of Atchison freight-trains at Rock creek, Missouri, W. B. Craddock and Frank Kuhn, brakemen, were mortally wounded, and damage of $55,000 was inflicted.

CRIMES AND CRIMINALS.

Mike Welch, a famous scoundrel, was killed in Montana by a buffalo hunter named Doyle.

Levi Morris, a brother of Alice Oates, the actress, was killed in a bar-room brawl at Louisville, Ky.

While D. V. Bells, President of the Commercial National Bank of Cleveland, was dipping coppers from railway bonds, an adroit thief, who had gained access to his office on pretense of business, managed to crib a paper box containing bonds to the amount of $177,000, and was gone an hour before the robbery was discovered.

A notorious Western desperado, named Ham White, while on his way to the Detroit House of Correction, in charge of U. M. States Marshal Wilcox, managed to pick the lock of his handcuffs with a toothpick and frantically attacked the officer. Although there were seventeen brawny men on the train not unprepared to assist the officer in this struggle, the desperado, just as the latter had seized Wilcox's revolver, and was in the act of shooting him, the only woman in the coach—Mrs. Smithson, of Denver—sprang upon the convict, seized him by the neck, and disabled him so far as to enable Wilcox to regain his feet and get the mastery of the outlaw.

Friend of Bill Ryan, the convicted train robber of Missouri, has repeatedly threatened the life of Gov. Crittenden, and are said to have conspired to abduct his daughter and hold her as a hostage for the pardon of the desperado.

A NIGHT'S UNDERSTANDING.

They were horse fanciers and were spending a team out on the road, and after a long discussion of their favorites, one of them leaned back in the buggy, let the lines drop loose, and said:

"You ought to have seen Sule, Ah! she were a critter to be proud of. She was a whole team, and a boy to drive, I kin tell you."

"Break a horse?" asked his friend. "Well, now, you bet the was! thought once in a while she'd take the 'bit' in her mouth and go alone, but she was a blyde girl, she was! I ain't got over her loss yet."

"With much?" asked the other man.

"With her weight in gold to me. I declare I never come a-sentent cryin' as I did when I lost that critter; she was a worker, too."

"Kinden gentle, I an' pose?" suggested the other.

"Oh, she'd 'specially kick over the traces," a remonstrance of the lively scamp presented itself. "I—she kept the whip-hand, I bet; the best 'em 'em like somethin'."

"Ever two her?" said his friend.

"Trot her? What are you mean? Lord, man, I don't know what state she'd be in if you'd sent her to a horse?" he asked indignantly.

They flushed with rage in silence.

EGYPT'S SCATTERED OBELISKS.

Thirty obelisks transported from Egypt from time to time are now standing in various parts of Europe. Of these there are in Rome eleven, of which four are higher than the New York obelisk. The highest of these and the highest in Europe, being 106 feet with of St. John Lateran. The obelisk in the piazza of St. Peter's is eighty-two feet nine inches high. Both of these were mounted on high pedestals. The pedestal of the St. John Lateran obelisk is forty-four feet high, making the entire height of obelisk and pedestal 155 feet. The pedestal of the St. Peter's obelisk is a trifle less than fifty feet high, making the whole height of the monument 132 feet 2 inches. If Commander Gorring had brought with him the entire pedestal on which the New York obelisk stood at Alexandria, about the same proportion would be observed as those of the St. John Lateran, which is forty-four feet high, making the entire height of obelisk and pedestal 155 feet. The pedestal of the former is a trifle less than fifty feet high, making the whole height of our obelisk ninety-six feet.

THE VIENNA HORROR.

BURNING of the King of Hungary—SIX HUNDRED PEOPLE BURNED—Two Thousand People Struggling for the Light and Life—Tragedy.

Malfunctioning of the Glass Theater, at Vienna, and the loss of nearly 700 lives, is one of the most appalling calamities of modern times.

The fire originated on the stage. The curtain in which it started is not known. Some of those who were on the stage at the time and who escaped, say that the fire was caused by the dropping of an oil-lamp among the scenery. Others assert that the fire came up from the engine room, and was generated by the engine on the stage, which was supplying the theater with electric lights. However it was, when the flames made their appearance, they did so suddenly and were in such alarming proportion as to fill the entire auditorium to an extent not exceeded through a window.

SOUTH BRANCH, Dec. 15, 1881.
Editor Avalanche.—Please accept a few extracts from letters received by my son James, from his cousin Howard, of London, England. He says: "The novelty in the Lord Mayor's show this year was the honoring the American flag, by the Lord Mayor. The Banner of the United States of America was escorted by a guard of honor of the Staff Sergeants of the 4th Battalion of the Royal Fusiliers, City of London Regiment. The Right Honorable the Lord Mayor, stepped down from his state carriage when he arrived at the flag, uncovered his head, and so stood while the band played the American National Anthem. The brightness of the day and the undiminished popularity of the Lord Mayor's show, were no doubt the chief circumstances which brought together a crowd more numerous than has assembled on any 4th of November for years past. The people literally swarmed, some climbed up the slender structures from which the electric lamps were hung. The multitude was really wonderful to see, some looking from heights so great that the procession must have seemed to them little else than a brightly-colored moving thread. One man was perched on the great gilt cross of St. Paul's, 404 feet high. The individuals comprising the mass seemed to be on vastly good terms with themselves and everybody else. When a half of the procession occurred, considerable badinage or joking was indulged in. One who was in the procession says 'we were often surrounded by a laughing, cheering, dusty, sweating mob, who manifested the utmost interest in our behalf.' 'We're quite sure we shouldn't take cold! Wouldn't we step out and take a little something warm? Did our mamma know of our whereabouts? Did our sisters, our cousins, and our aunts approve of our being in the show? Did we know how old the Mayor was? Would we like to be Lord Mayors ourselves? How much did our lavender kids cost us? At what establishment did you buy your hats? We were christened and unchristened a dozen times along our route, now Leyton's, now Parnell's, and now Mansion House Turkeys. We received many offers of half-pence, and one four-penny piece.' * * *

"The Lord Chief Justice in reply to an address, among many other things said: 'My Lord Mayor, that fact suggests to my mind the only subject upon which I propose to trouble you—with any words, and that is the unchanging character of the great institution over which you preside, and which to-day your Lordship represents. Every other, or almost every other institution of this country has felt the touch of time and has been altered, more or less, as the centuries have rolled along, the authority of the Sovereign has been twice affected; the succession to the crown has been twice altered, once by war and once by the authority of Parliament; the law courts having existed for 600 or 700 years have had their forms in which some great men thought the substance of law resided entirely abolished; the church has been fundamentally altered by that long series of events which we are accustomed to call the Reformation; the House of Commons has twice in the life time of most of us present here, been reformed; almost every other municipal corporation in the country has been entirely, or almost entirely reconstructed; the corporation of London alone is presented to the eager scrutiny of 1881 wearing much the same features which it wore in 1881, or for aught I know, 1481. My Lord, in this free country no institution can for long maintain an existence unless it satisfies the intelligent opinion of the great mass of the people that it exists for the public good. Now, in the opinion of the great majority of educated Englishmen, the fact of its existence in a free country shows that the very ancient and long established corporation of the City of London, satisfies the country that it exists for the public good. I trust, my Lord Mayor, that it may long be so.'

DR. S. REVELL.

"An exchange says: Such a thing as a telephone was almost unknown longer ago than 1877, and now almost every city of any size in the country has a telephone exchange. Not satisfied with this, the system of connecting cities in the same manner, is rapidly coming into general use, until Detroit, Mt. Clemens, St. Clair, Marine City and Port Huron are connected; Grand Rapids, Grand Haven, Spring Lake and Muskegon; Bay City, West Bay City and the Saginaw; Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti; while Kalamazoo, Alpena, Adrian, St. Joseph, Big Rapids, Flint, Jackson, Lansing and Manistee, have each a separate exchange. These lines are being extended in all directions, until soon we can talk from one city to another in any part of our State, paying for the privilege 25cts for five minutes conversation. While this system is largely in use in the Eastern States, Michigan is the only Western State that has generally adopted it, and the line from Detroit to Port Huron (70 miles) is one of the longest in the country.
